Garbage-generating gatherings

The advisory that is being flashed on the small screen namely recycle-reuse-refuse for the land's people aimed at minimising, if not totally getting rid of the demonic plastic menace may have come too late, given the large number of users of the ubiquitous plastic bag showing no signs of responding to the call given by the top brass in the Government. Ironically, the feature of plastic products, first earning the ignominy as garbage after it has provided comfort of carrying every kind of consumables to the masses and next enduring in that state virtually for eternity seem to be pushing to the shade the arsenal of nuclear weaponry which was thought until not too long ago to be the most dangerous contribution of scientists. The saga of plastic in all its forms as products replacing the various traditionally used materials, particularly metals, including iron, copper and aluminium, welcomed with open arms in the industry due to cost-cutting feature prompts one to remark that garbage in plastic form acts as a strong link between happiness and disenchantment.

Mentors of society can only set the ground rules of the game of life so that its members don't come to grief by flouting those rules, but don't command the authority of enforcing their diktat. One such time-honoured rule, namely moderation in all acts, particularly use of life-supporting resources, seems to have got ignored by people at large in our times. If plastic products have been produced and used indiscriminately, why blame the invention by scientists?

Reports being regularly published in dailies informing citizens about their inputs in keeping open spaces in their respective cities free from garbage are steadily but slowly yielding results in Mysuru, particularly in residential areas. Call it mob mentality, people at large, gathering at venues hosting various events such as celebration of festivals, cultural programmes, melas offering tasty dishes, attractive attires and so on, take their turn to transform themselves from revellers to garbage-generators. The quantity of garbage that the residents of the city and the floating population generate in a day, expressed as hundreds of tonnes is a wild estimate failing to regenerate consciousness in them to refrain from fouling up their living spaces and more so public areas.

School children of many towns in Karnataka are imbibing the habit of keeping their premises free from dirt for which the teacher fraternity deserve to be thanked. As for the city's adult residents, civic administration may have to keep the tempo on roping in the householders on the task without relenting. If the city's residents don't reform themselves not to be garbage-generators, particularly in gatherings, why blame the civic body!

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Economic growth and job creation are central to a nation. History teaches a truism: That society must be entrepreneurially hyper-active. A growth nation needs three Es: Enterprise to generate vibrant energy; education, which includes school/college, but also art, culture and skill-oriented forms of intellectual enhancement; and, finally, eudaemonia, the Greek-derived expression for human well-being in terms of health, happiness and relationships. Like Kumbhakaran, our system has finally woken up to the ground realities and the central role of enterprise. India needs and welcomes short-term fixes like the tax cut, but we must remember that this is jugaad economic planning. India desperately needs strategic planning by policy planners and business.

London: Ghost hunters Lee Steer and Lindsay Sheeran held a live paranormal investigation on F acebook - and were stunned by the "spirit" they say they uncovered. The pair streamed it to their followers on their Ghosts of Britain group during a visit to Hull's derelict Lord lane building. They got more than they bargained for and claim their specialist equipment recorded a spooky figure roaming the abandoned halls.

"We live streamed our investigation to thousands and loads of people were commenting that they could see a shadow stood in the hallway in one of the rooms in the Lord Line building," Lee said. As part of their visit, they asked the "spirits" to change the temperature by 5c. Upon their command, they say the room went very hot - then cold by 10c. "That's not something that we could have physically done," he added.

Man breaks Guinness Record for longest nail extensions

Florida: A Florida artist captured his second Guinness World Record when he created the world's longest nail extensions, measuring a full 4 feet in length. Odilon Ozare, who set his first record in 2018 when his 15-foot, 9-inch tall hat was recognized as the world's tallest, said his attempt to set the nail extension record was inspired by the talons on his pet bird.

Ozare said he came up against several obstacles, including the discovery that the acrylic would break under its own weight when he tried to surpass the previous record of just over 3 feet. "So, I purchased acrylic powder and put on around 30 layers to finally achieve the extra length I needed. At the end I sanded the nails down to be smooth and painted them with an airbrush. It took hundreds of hours to paint that much acrylic on the nails," he said.

- Male humpback whales found in US waters sing complex songs in winter breeding areas in waters near Hawaii, in the Caribbean, and elsewhere that can last up to 20 minutes and be heard miles away.
- The blue whale is the largest animal that ever lived and can grow to 90 or more feet and weigh as much as 24 elephants! That's more than 330,000 pounds (150,000 kg).
- Some species of whales are among the longest lived mammals. Killer whales are highly social and often travel in groups that are matrifocal—a family unit focused or centered on the mother. Rangayana Directors and Political Ideology

Sir,

It is interesting to note that the recent Government Order relieving the Directors of Rangayanas has generated a debate. I have attended a few programmes in Rangayana and it was quite obvious that the administrators were leaning towards a particular political ideology.

A few months back there were a series of plays in the evenings for about a week with honouring of some achievers in various disciplines of art, literature and theatre. The speeches thereon were so much one-sided and the common refrain was a tirade against Narendra Modi and BJP. Plainly it was because the then ruling political group had similar views and the Directors shared them too.

It is a natural corollary that when the ruling dispensation changes, it expects change in the presentation of views by such socio-cultural appointees.

A similar example may be given about the choice of Dr. S.L. Bhyrappa to inaugurate Dasara festivities. Can anyone justify that it required so many years for such an eminent person from Mysuru to get this honour?

It is unfortunate that magnanimity is conspicuous by its absence in our social behaviour and political actions.

Honey trap kingpin fires at Police

Madikeri, Sept. 28 (PS&BCT)- An accused in a honey trap case opened fire at the Police when they came to arrest him at Yemmemadu village near Napoklu in Kodagu. Fortunately, an Assistant Sub-Inspector (ASI) and four Constables escaped unhurt.

Karim

This was disclosed by Kodagu Superintendent of Police Dr. Suman D. Pennekar at a press conference held at her office yesterday. She said that Karim was the main accused in a honey trap case and after his associates were arrested, the District Crime Investigation Bureau (DCIB) team headed by ASI Hamid went to Karim's house at Yemmemadu to arrest him.

Instigated by wives

Seeing the Police at his home compound, Karim opened fire with his gun. The bullet, however, did not hit the Policemen but instead it pierced the concrete wall surrounding the house. Suman said that Karim's two wives were inside the house and while one instigated Karim to open fire at the Police, the other wife brought a gun from inside and handed over to him.

The Police team backed off as Karim had opened fire. Later Karim and his wives fled from the house. A case has been registered against the accused and his wives. The SP said that Karim, a repeat offender, had a couple of cases against him and during the disturbance during Tipu Jayanti in Madikeri, Karim had instigated violence.

Dubai businessman trapped

Meanwhile, Karim's associates who were honey-trapping victims have been arrested. Six persons including a girl student were in Karim's group.

Mastermind Karim is, however, absconding. Muhammad Azaruddin (24), Aboobakar Siddique (33), Hussainar (27), Irshad Ali (27) and A.A. Samir (28) are the arrested. All are from Yemmemadu village of Madikeri. The girl student is from Bhuvanagiri, Koodige. She is a second year B.Com student at a Women's College in Madikeri.

Gafur, who is a native of Emmemadu and a resident of Dubai, had come to his native village to construct a new house. Knowing about the same, Karim and Azaruddin took Gafur in a car on Aug. 16 on the pretext of purchasing electronic equipment from Mysuru. The girl student too accompanied them.

Intoxicated with drugs

On the way, they took Gafur to a home stay near Ring Road in Mysuru. Gafur was intoxicated with drugs by the accused and later, the rest of the accused entered the home stay and thrashed Gafur. They snatched Rs. 60,000 cash and foreign currency from him. They later made Gafur pose with the girl student in a compromising position and recorded a video. They threatened Gafur that they will make the video viral if Gafur did not pay Rs. 50 lakh to them. After Gafur asked his relatives to get Rs. 3.80 lakh and paid them, he was released. Later, Gafur lodged a complaint in the Napoklu Police Station.

Kodagu coffee businessman shoots himself to death

Madikeri, Sept. 28 (PS&BCT)- Even as the suicide of Coffee Czar V.G. Siddhartha at Nethravathi River in Mangaluru is still fresh in memory, another well-to-do coffee businessman from South Kodagu shot himself with his licenced revolver last night. He took the extreme step at his office, sitting on his chair.

Sunil

The coffee businessman is 44-year-old Achchiyanda Sunil, a resident of Hudikeri in South Kodagu. Police said that Sunil shot himself through his ears. Hearing the gunshot, two workers from his coffee curing mill rushed to his office only to find Sunil seated on his chair and blood oozing out from his head.

The incident occurred at around 7.44 pm and the reason behind this drastic step is not known. Sunil was a well-to-do coffee businessman and had built his business through years of hard work. He owned coffee curing works and had many collection centres in South Kodagu. He also owned a couple of buses that operate from Srimangala.

Srimangala Police who viewed the CCTV footages inside and outside Sunil's office have found that Sunil had shot himself. As of now they have ruled out the possibility of any foul play. Investigation is, however, on. Sunil leaves behind wife, two children and many relatives and friends.

35 burglary, robbery cases cracked

Nanjangud Sub-division Police arrest 10 dacoits; recover valuables worth Rs. 82 lakh

Mysuru, Sept. 28 (MK&BCT)- In a major operation, the Nanjangud Sub-division Police have cracked 35 burglary and robbery cases and have arrested 10 dacoits. The Police have also seized gold and other valuables worth Rs. 82 lakh including 1,005 gram gold, 3.5 kg silver, 5 cars and one autorickshaw.

Disclosing this at a press conference held at his office last evening, Mysuru Superintendent of Police C.B. Ryshyanth said that the arrested were Umesh, Gagan, Suresh, of Hootagalli in Mysuru, Mohammad Mushtaq and Mohammad Mubarak of Banavara in Hassan, Taslim Pasha of Kadur, Siddaraju, Mahesh, Prasad and Mohammad Munna of Shirangalli village in Kodagu district.

Following a series of burglaries and robberies in Nanjangud Sub-division, a special team was formed. The team traced old cases and found that Mahesh had 24 cases and another accused had 34 cases. Tracing the accused, the Police nabbed Taslim from Ajmer. Later, one-by-one, all accused were arrested.

All the arrested are professional dacoits and used to target lonely houses or those houses where the residents have left for long trips. They used to don the role of autorickshaw drivers and survey the houses. They used to keep a close watch of residents and if they find the houses locked for more than three days, they would break open the doors, the SP said. They also used to rob people who come to take their autorickshaws. In the guise of ferrying passengers, they used to take them to secluded places and rob them of their gold, cash and costly mobiles. Cars seized from them include Honda Amaze, Ford Ikon and Swift Dezire, the SP added.

Cautioning the residents, the SP said that before leaving for holidays or locking the house, they must install Breach Alarm so that whenever the doors are broken, the alarm makes a sound, alerting the neighbours. This way, alert neighbours can even catch hold of the dacoits and hand them over to the Police, he added.

IN BLACK & WHITE

Vikram Muthanna

Hearty talk...

Like many men in Indian families, I too come from a not so proud line of men with clogged arteries. Luckily, I am yet to be clogged. But like many Indians, I too have thrown caution to the winds and succumbed to culinary charms.

For most of my life, I have had an intense and regular relationship with oily Kesri bath and Masala dosa. I have had sweaty sessions with Andhra chilly chicken and ghee-drenched white Rice. I have relished the wild times in dark alleys with food cart Gobi Manchurian. And the obsessive gulp and slurp with Biryani and Coca-Cola continues. But now after all these years of gastronomic adventures, I am afraid I have gone too far.

Now, every time I hurt, sweat or feel a burn anywhere in my torso area, I fear it might be a heart attack. I am sure I am not alone in feeling this way considering that more and more younger men are having heart attacks in India. In fact, a report published in the Vascular Health states that young Indians in the age group of 35-45 years die of heart disease 10-15 years earlier compared to other populations in rest of the world !

No wonder then that the new topic of conversation among middle-aged Indian men includes types of stents, arterial plaque, ECG (Electrocardiogram) and Angiogram. The conversation includes not just about CEOs or cricket players and their statistics but also about Cardiac Surgeons and their statistics.

It was after one such conversation that three years ago I got myself a care taker who woke me up with a message of "Good morning sweetie" and who when I took more than 10, 000 steps congratulated me with a "Well done hon."

Yes, I wore a fitness watch and it displayed, literally, as much care for my health as any mother would. Back then the only reason I bought the watch was because it had a heart monitor and I thought given my family history it would be nice to know when I needed to pop the heart shaped 'sorbitrate' tablet under my tongue and rush to the hospital.

Now, the Fitbit watch has been replaced by the new iWatch. This fitness watch has taken my health issues to a whole new level of inspection. It tracks everything: my heart, my step, my fall, my calorie and even my sleep. I'm sure soon, with all the talk of "gut health" it will start tracking my poop interval, duration and intensity. It's all getting too intimate and invasive.

But the best feature of this watch is for elders. Any older person who lives alone should own this watch as it senses when you fall and promptly calls a person to inform them that you have fallen down and need help.

Now, as for people who have heart issues this watch gives them their resting heart rate, their heart rate variability, walking heart rate average and regular heart rate. Apart from this, now one can even take an ECG by placing one's finger on the 'crown'!

The hand wearing the watch must rest on a surface and the user must remain still. As the user touches the crown, the circuit is completed and electrical signals across the heart are measured. If an irregular rhythm is identified on five checks over a minimum of 65 minutes, an alert will go out to the user that they must proceed to get a check up. It is literally, as the saying goes, wearing your heart on your sleeve.

The fact is, while glancing to see how your heart is beating, how you are sleeping or how many calories you are burning, can be oddly gripping and give you a sense of control over your body, it can also induce anxiety.

But as intimate and invasive as such fitness watches may seem, when used correctly and read with a pinch of salt, they do help to maintain good health. They set you on a path to get healthy. They coax you to have an active lifestyle. So the best way to handle it is like everything else in life — moderation.

In the end, a device can only do so much; if you really want to be healthy it has to come from within. Instead of being reactive, it is time to be proactive when it comes to health.

Now, whenever the issue of heart disease is discussed it is usually with the assumption that it is a "male" problem. But that is not true. Actor Sridevi's death has drawn attention to heart disease among women. It is said the symptoms of heart disease in women are simple and not typical or dramatic, so it is ignored. It is said that many women realise they have had heart attacks when they go for some other test! So their heart attacks are different and that is why they have their own Heart Day? — February 17th is celebrated as Women's Heart Day. In short, women too, like men, should get a regular heart check up, because their heart attacks do not manifest like a man's, they are just milder.

Speaking of mild heart attacks...

A woman finds a magic lamp and rubs it. Immediately a Genie appears. He happens to be a sexist Genie and does not like the fact that a woman got lucky and he has to grant her three wishes.

Genie: Woman, you have three wishes (being a sexist Genie he adds) ... but your husband will get ten times more than what you wish for.

Woman: Hmm... that's okay. I just care what I get, it does not matter that he gets more.

Genie: Okay then, what is your first wish?

Woman: I want to be the most beautiful woman in the world.

Genie: Granted. Also your husband is now ten times more handsome (trying to make her jealous he adds) ... women all over will go crazy for him.

Woman: That's okay, because I will be the most beautiful woman, so he won't look at them.

Genie: Really ! okay if you say so. Now, what's your second wish?

Woman: I want to be the richest woman in the world.

Genie: Granted. Also your husband is now ten times richer than you.

Woman: That's okay. What's mine is his and what's his is mine, it is all ours.

Genie: Really? okay, now ask your third and final wish foolish woman.

Woman: Okay. Dear Genie, please grant me a mild heart attack !

Heart-Healthy

Cardio Vascular Diseases (CVD) is a leading cause of death and disability in the world, claiming 17.9 million lives a year. World Heart Day, observed on Sept. 29 every year, plays a crucial role in changing all of this. It is a vital global platform to create awareness and encourage individuals, families, communities and governments to take measures to prevent fatalities. The theme for this year's World Heart Day is 'My Heart, Your Heart' through which the World Heart Federation is trying to create awareness among people to take care of their heart. This Weekend Star Supplement focuses on how, over the years, Mysuru has emerged as a heart care destination.

Mysuru emerges as Heart Care Destination

Apollo BGS Hospitals

Narayana Multispeciality Hospital

Sri Jayadeva Institute of Cardiovascular Sciences & Research

By S.N. Venkatnag Sobers

Mysuru, the cultural and heritage capital in Karnataka is also the next best place for advanced medical treatment after Bengaluru especially for heart ailments. Many heart care centres and specialty hospitals have brought great relief to heart patients.

Earlier, it was only the K.R. Hospital that used to treat issues related to heart ailments but for major complications one had to visit Bengaluru.

With patients coming from surrounding districts of Mandya, Chamarajanagar, Mysuru, Kodagu and Hassan, the K.R. Hospital had a tough task in hand.

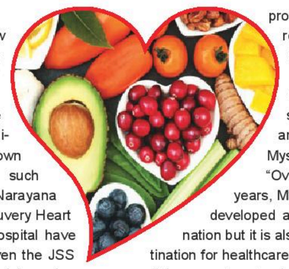
However, a few hospitals which had minimum facilities at that time in Mysuru, could only provide basic treatment for heart attacks and strokes.

In case a patient was referred to Bengaluru, only the wealthy could afford as health schemes such as Ayushman Bharat, Yashaswini, Arogya Karnataka and others were not announced by the Government.

Scene before 2001

Till about 2001, there was no good hospital which could provide complete heart care in Mysuru. It was only after Apollo BGS and Vikram Multispecialty Hospitals were started, patients got access to good quality treatment. Since the past 18 years, Mysuru has been fortunate enough to have the best of facilities and have the expertise of senior cardiologists and cardiac surgeons who have been providing quality treatment.

Advanced treatment options



Over the past few years, Mysuru has emerged as one of the best centres for heart care with the many private hospitals setting up their own facilities. Hospitals such as Columbia Asia, Narayana Hrudayalaya and Cauvery Heart and Multispecialty Hospital have set up their units. Even the JSS Multispecialty Hospital has also been providing quality healthcare not only to people from Mysuru but Mandya, Chamarajanagar, Hassan and Kodagu.

Complex heart treatments

Speaking to Star of Mysore, Dr. Arun Srinivas, Chief Cardiologist, Apollo BGS Hospital, said, "The coming of private hospital to Mysuru has ensured that around 95-99 percent of complex heart treatments are made available locally. Even very complex and advanced procedures such as rotational Atherectomy, aortic valve implantation, intra-vascular ultra sound and others are now available in Mysuru."

"Over the past few years, Mysuru has not only developed as a tourism destination but it is also grown as a destination for healthcare particularly in cardiology, gastroenterology, neurology and cancer. Fortunately, various government health schemes have made treatments affordable to common man," he added.

Dr. Arun Srinivas

Dr. K.S. Sadananda

Blessing for the poor

One of the other major hospitals that have been catering to heart care in Mysuru is Sri Jayadeva Institute of Cardiovascular Sciences and Research. With heart patients multiplying in Mysore region, the institute has come as a blessing for the poor especially those living under below poverty line. Initially, the hospital was started in the K.R. Hospital premises about a decade ago. It was only last year that it was shifted to its new premises at Kumbarakoppal on KRS Road.

Dr. K.S. Sadananda, Medical Superintendent, Sri Jayadeva Institute of Cardiovascular Sciences and Research, Mysuru, says that ever since the institute was opened in Mysuru, people started getting heart treatment at affordable prices. The inclusion of various health schemes has also helped get access to best of the treatment. "Incidence of heart disease has been increasing in Asian countries like India, China, Japan and other countries. Compared to the last previous 10 years, heart ailments have increased by at least 2-3 times. Whereas cases related to heart diseases has been decreasing in the Western world as there is more awareness and preventive measures. Unfortunately, we have not been taking preventive measures nor there is any awareness," he regretted.

What to do when someone around you is having a Heart Attack?

If someone suspects or sees an unresponsive person, the first and foremost thing is to call for emergency medical services. Begin Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation (CPR) immediately and continue until professional emergency medical services arrive. If two people are available to help, one should begin CPR immediately while the other calls for help.

Cultural beliefs also make people hesitant to perform mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. It is difficult to learn and if performed wrongly it can lead to a lot of harm.

Chest Compression to revive the heart

- The victim should not be shaken, there should be no vigorous movement of the neck as it could cause further harm the patient.
- If the person is not responding, then the rescuer should do a simple manoeuvre of head tilt and chin lift to clear the airway of the person.
- Five cycles of thirty chest compression should be given with both hands placed over the lower third of the sternum.
- Two mouth-to-mouth rescue breaths should ideally be given after each cycle of chest compression.

- If the patient responds, either verbally or by purposeful movement, or is breathing normally, then cardiopulmonary arrest is unlikely. Such victim needs to be monitored constantly and shifted to nearby medical facility at the earliest.

Risk factors involved in heart ailment

Heart ailments come unannounced. Normally, there are no symptoms prior to a heart attack. It is important that everyone gets screened for at least once in two years so that complication could be avoided in case a person is detected for any heart-related issues.

Basically, before talking about the basic tests to diagnose heart ailment, it is important to know about the risk factors involved in causing heart diseases. There are basically five risk factors which include blood pressure, diabetes, smoking, cholesterol and strong family history.

Having even one of these, there is a high risk of the person suffering heart issues in the future. Apart from these five, there are some other reasons known as the new or emerging factors which not many people talk about. That includes overweight, poor eating habits, lack of exercises and pollution.

Though there is no control over certain facts like the family history, which in most of the cases passes to the next generation, taking preventive measures can at least postpone a person suffering from certain diseases by at least few years.

Heart Disease Diagnosis

Columbia Asia Hospital

Though electrocardiogram (ECG) is the first basic test done to check fluctuations in the heart beats, it is not the accurate test to detect heart disease in the early stage. However, it immediately shows fluctuations after a person suffers heart attack but readings can be normal even a day before a person suffers the attack.

There are other tests done to diagnose a person with heart ailments:

ECHO Cardiogram: Scanning of the heart which detects holes in the heart and leaking valves. However, it does not detect blockages.

Thread Mill Test (TMT): During which the heart is stressed physically followed an ECG to know if the blood supply is normal. To detect a blockage in the heart a person has to undergo.

CT Coronary Angiogramord: Regular Invasive Angiogram that is done from the hand to find out if there are any blockages in the heart. But every person is not recommended for angiogram and this is why the doctors recommend for ECG, ECHO and TMT tests and if the person shows signs of discomfort in the chest and back pain while walking or climbing the stairs or cannot undergo TMT, such persons are subjected to the angiogram directly.

Earlier, doctors used to recommend for screening of heart once in two years after a person attained the age of 40 years but now it has been reduced to 30 years. Recent studies have shown that people between the age group 30-69 years, of the 1.3 million cardiovascular deaths, 0.9 million (68.4%) were caused by coronary heart disease and 0.4 million (28.0%) by stroke.

Dr. C.B. Keshavamurthy, Chief Interventional Cardiologist, Columbia Asia Hospital, Mysuru, says that it is important for everyone to be aware of their heart health while keeping a regular tab on blood pressure, cholesterol and sugar level.

Dr. C.B. Keshavamurthy

"Healthy lifestyle with regular exercise, especially outdoor exercise, keeping the body weight in check, maintaining a good body mass index (BMI) level will help in maintaining a healthy heart. Over the past few years, there has been an increase in heart diseases because of the changes in our diet," he said.

These days, with changes in the lifestyle and increase in the stress level, one can find more number of people suffering from various types of heart ailments. Apart from heart attack, there the other ailment which is increasing in the rapid scale is heart failure, which is the weakness of the heart caused due to uncontrolled hypertension.

Congenital heart disease

Earlier, it was difficult to find out if the child was suffering from congenital heart disease at the time of birth. But today there is routine evaluation of the child in mother's womb.

They get checked by routine ultra sound or anomaly scan to find out if there are any abnormalities. This helps in terminating pregnancy at an early stage if major anomalies such as underdeveloped brain, defective heart which cannot be corrected by surgery to name a few are detected. There is 4D Ultra Sound which can pick up most of the heart ailments before birth.

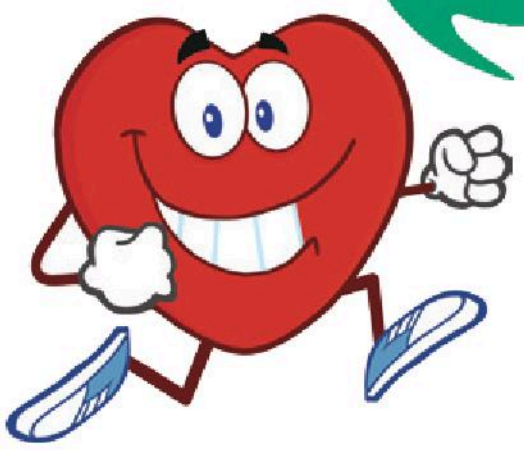
Doctors Say



'Prevention and awareness go together'

Cardiac disease is a growing health problem in younger population. It needs emergency attention towards the treatment and prevention. Mysuru has made profound improvement in providing speciality care to these patients.

In last decade there is a significant influx of specialist, technologies and institutions providing specific care in this regard. Awareness programmes and other strategies for the prevention should also go hand-in-hand. Younger population should learn to stay away from stress, sedentary life and smoking.

— Dr. S.C. Madhuprakash, Consultant Chief Cardiac Surgeon, Cauvery Heart and Multispecialty Hospital, Mysuru

'Quit smoking now'

It is always said 'Prevention is better than cure'. In order to prevent heart diseases, it is advised to quit smoking and do regular exercises. Having a healthy diet involving fresh fruits and vegetarian food helps maintain a healthy heart. Practicing yoga and cycling will also keep the heart pumping.

Common symptoms of Heart Attack includes chest pain, cold sweat, crushing/ heaviness in chest, radiation to back or left arm, severe burning sensation in upper abdomen with sweating and extreme amount of fatigue. People with these symptoms must seek urgent medical assistance to prevent fatalities.

— Dr. N.S. Rajendra, Senior Consultant Cardiologist, Narayana Multispecialty Hospital, Mysuru

'Be a heart hero'

Cardio Vascular Disease is the leading cause of death and disability. Making small lifestyle changes can make powerful difference to our heart health, reduce the risk and improve quality of life. On the occasion of World Heart Day , we can all be 'Heart Heroes' by making a promise to our friends, our family, our patients, our employees to live longer, better with heart-healthy lives.

— Dr. S. Sunil Kumar, Senior Consultant- Interventional Cardiology, JSS Medical College and Hospital, Mysore

Abids Rental Services, one of Mysuru's city's oldest shamiyana dealers, has clarified that they have been in business since 1943. Following a news article titled 'Stage King' published in Star of Mysore dated Sept. 27, 2019, Mohammed Azam, Partner and CEO, Abids said that his company was very much in business and was providing wedding planning and rental services to corporate MNC clients, private institutes and other clients.

The report had inadvertently mentioned, "Earlier, many people like Shakur Brothers, Jani Sait, Abidz and Tiruvanni Somanna used to provide shamiyanas but they have slowly wound up the businesses and have taken up different trades."

Azam clarified, "All of the above people are in business even now. In fact, Abids was not majorly into mass public functions and gatherings. We also have been closely involved with Dasara events at Mysore Palace from 1970 till 2002," he added.

Vid. T.M. Krishna performing at 8th Cross Music Fest held as part of the 58th Heritage Music Festival with Ganeshotsava organised by Sri Prasanna Vidya Ganapathi Mandali Charitable (SPVGMC) Trust on Sept.13. He was accompanied by Vidu. Akkarai Subhalakshmi on violin, Vid. N.C. Bharadwaj on mridanga and Vid. Purushottam on kanjira.

Stunningly Innovative

By Dr. Padmavathi Narasimhan

T.M. Krishna is a celebrated star in classical music. On the 13th day of the Heritage Music Festival at 8th Cross, V.V.Mohalla, the street was overflowing with Karnatak music connoisseurs and eager listeners waiting patiently to hear his music. The expectations ran high, as the reasons are many.

Some eccentric features of Krishna's concerts are his silence in the midst of a composition while the listeners and the accompanists wait in anticipation, his giving huge importance to the violinist (the violinist sits next to him facing the audience unlike in other concerts where the violinist sits on the left hand side of the artiste), asking her/him to play manodharma (an alapane or a kalpana swara) while more is expected of him (sometimes he sings the swaras that they play just as the violinist follows the vocalist), taniyavartanam at a time when it is least expected and often two, accompanists allowed to lead the concert many a time — while some people deem it as generosity, the traditionalists frown, and above all, breaking the tradition and singing a varna in the middle or towards the end of the concert, as he did this time too, much to the apprehension of the conventionalists present. It is difficult to decide if the audience gather in such huge numbers to listen to his music or to see what is new in the present concert.

Eschewing his penchant for a languorous style, Krishna was full of verve as he began the concert with 'Muttuswami Deekshitar's 'Ranga Pura Vihara' in Brindavana Saranga. While he enjoyed each syllable of the kriti while he presented, neraval was unusually chosen for the line 'Angaja Janaka Deva', developing the swaras at 'Muni Sankata harana Govinda'. While the listeners sat in anticipation of the continuation of kalpana swaras, violinist Akkarai Subbulakshmi was asked to play the kalpana swaras, much to the disappointment of the listeners

The audience nodded in appreciation while Krishna started the Devagandhari Alapana, bringing Tyagaraja's 'Tulasamma Mayinta'. A rarely sung composition 'Chinna Nadana' in a rare raga Kalanidhi by Tyagaraja was presented with also a neraval at the unusual 'Goppa Daivama Tyagaraja'. Taniyavartanam at the most unexpected junction of the concert happened here!

Surprisingly again, Shankarabharana Alapana began at the tarasthayi and after a brief elaboration, ended abruptly also in Tara sthayi 'g', leading to only a part of a composition 'Purana Purusham Purantakam Shankarabharana Bhasamana Deham.' While some listeners scratched their head to guess the composition, some others smiled amusingly and the conservatives were struck with horror as the composition itself was missing, which is believed to be a dishonor done to the composer. The part chosen is the last part of the charana of Deekshitar's composition 'Sadashivam Upasmahe'. While kalpana swaras only in the first speed to the chosen part were relishing, the composition was not sung at all and the audience were left to imagine the first line of the composition.

Natikuranji was chosen next and with no raga preamble, tana was taken directly, wherein Subbulakshmi too demonstrated her long standing experience and intelligence. While the listeners wondered which composition or Pallavi would be sung, the vocalist again took the audience by surprise by beginning the varna 'chalamela', for which swaras were also knitted for the charana part. The second taniyavartanam followed for the varna!

The rest of the concert was reserved for light compositions. 'Broohi Mukundeti Rasane' by Sadashiva Brahmendra in Kuranji, wherein Krishna beautified the composition with enchanting sangatis, 'Entanipudu ke' in Kalyani, which was excellently presented in a slow unhurried manner giving weight to the lyrics of the composition, Pu.Ti.Na's "Nagna Vipina" again in kalyani on request, 'Manavyalakimchara' in Nalinakanti and a D.V.G. song 'Ene shuka bhashini' in Behag from the "Antahpura Geetegalu" also on request occupied the last half hour of the concert.

N.C. Bharadwaj extended superb support on mridanga and filled the frequent gaps of silence between the compositions. He and Krishna Kumar on mridanga and ghata alternated between soft and strong patterns to suit the mood of the kritis. Two tamburas in tune on stage, a regular concert requirement for Krishna, were not only a satisfactory sight, but enhanced the beauty of the concert.

Karnatak classical vocal concert

Sri Tyagaraja Sangeetha Sabha Charitable Trust had organised Karnatak classical vocal concert by Vidu. Rajalakshmi Sridhar at Sri Gayathri Lakshmi Narasimha Temple, Srirampura in city recently. She was accompanied by Vid. Tandavamurthy on violin, Vid. Sai Shivu on mridanga and Vid. Y.P. Vikram Bharadwaj on ghata.

Lord Mountbatten's car in Dasara Vintage Car Rally

50 Vintage beauties will start from Raj Bhavan tomorrow; will be in city till Oct. 2

Mysuru, Sept. 28 (BCT)- A two-litre 1937 Sunbeam Talbot, the only car in India previously owned by Lord Mountbatten, the last Viceroy of India, will be displayed during the Vintage Car Rally organised as part of Dasara celebrations.

The car is currently owned by Sabena Prakash and the Vintage beauty will be brought from Bengaluru on Sept. 29 (tomorrow). Along with Lord Mountbatten's car, 49 other vintage beauties will take a tour of the city for three days.

Mysureans will have an opportunity to see these classic cars in the event organised by Federation of Historic Vehicles of India (FHVI) from Sept. 29 to Oct. 2. The Federation will bring over 50 vintage and classic cars and motorcycles and the rally will be flagged off from Raj Bhavan in Bengaluru by Governor Vajubhai Vala at 9 am tomorrow.

The rally will arrive in the city and pass through Mysuru's historic monuments tomorrow evening, after which the vehicles will be parked in front of the Mysore Palace. Prominent personalities from royal families and well-known industrialists from business houses in India and Sri Lanka will be part of this rally.

It is FHVI's second edition and it is the only all India Federation of Vintage and Classic Cars associated with the International body of Historic Vehicles FIVA, official partner of UNESCO. It has at present nearly 2,000 members and about 10,000 Vintage and Classic Cars, Bikes and Utilitarian Vehicles.

The FHVI has taken part in Dasara procession for several years and now it has made it an annual event from last year with the help of Government of Karnataka, Department of Tourism and Department of Forests.

Vintage cars from the 1920s to 1980s like Sunbeam, Mercedes, MG's, Jaguars, Fords, Dodge-Brothers, Buicks, Chevrolet's, Morris's, Austin's, Alfa Romeo's, Triumph and Lincoln will be part of this vintage car rally. A Mercedes 170 V Tourer, owned by Bri Ponnambalan, Studebaker Commander Tourer owned by Clive, Buick Super 8 owned by Rohan Fernando, Mercedes Ponton 180 owned by Naresha Subramanyam and MG GT owned by Megara Alwsi are some of the cars being showcased.

Dr. Ravi Prakash, President of FHVI, said, "A total of 50 entrants are coming from overseas and across India and Karnataka. There would be 125 participants. This year the prominent car will be 1937 Sunbeam Talbot, 2-litre, the only car in India previously owned by Lord Mountbatten."

Historic motorcycles will be in the lead. The vehicles have to move in the city between 30kmph and 40kmph and on the outskirts between 60kmph and 70kmph, he added.

Participants will stay at the Lalitha Mahal Palace Hotel and other private hotels in Mysuru till Oct. 2. On Monday, Sept. 30, participants will be driving to Chamundi Hills for the Darshan of Goddess Chamundeshwari and later will be visiting Bandipur Tiger Reserve. On Oct. 1, participants will have a 'Pagal Gymkhana' at the Lalitha Mahal Grounds after which they will be driving to the Krishna Raja Sagar Dam and return to Bengaluru in the evening.

Dasara begins tomorrow

Pointing out that the Hill Temple will be specially decorated with different alankaras on all the 10 days of the Navaratri, Dixit said that the 'Utsava Murti' (idol of Goddess Chamundeshwari) was brought from the Chamundi Thotti in the city Palace premises three days ago and pujas, homas and hawanas are being performed daily.

The 'Utsava Murti' will be brought to the Palace premises a couple of hours before the commencement of Jumboo Savari on Oct.8 and placed on the Ambari (Golden Howdah), he said.

Continuing, Dixit said that after the demise of Jayachamaraja Wadiyar, the idol of Goddess Bhuvaneshwari was carried in the procession. But later on, the Chamundi Hill Temple Management decided to have Chamundeshwari idol following which National awardee sculptor N.S. Janardhan Murthy of the city sculpted a eight hand Goddess Chamundeshwari killing demon Mahishasura under her feet, which is being carried in the howdah since 1990, he said and added that Durbar Utsava will take place at the Hill Temple on all the nine days of Navaratri between 5 pm and 5.30 pm.

With Dasara inauguration tomorrow, stage has been erected to accommodate more than 30 guests and VIPs. Seating arrangements have been made for 800 dignitaries.

The Police have made tight security arrangements. The multi-level parking lot atop the Hill is ready for vehicle parking.
